

VERIZON INTERNATIONAL LONG DISTANCE – ADDITIONAL TERMS:

The following Terms apply to all Verizon Long Distance international calling plans. For more specific information about your international long distance calling plan, go to www.verizon.com/internationalrates.

- Prices do not include taxes, surcharges and fees.
- Long distance services provided pursuant to service agreement and tariffs, where applicable. Rates may be subject to change.
- Calls will be rounded up to the nearest whole minute.
- Calls to certain destinations may be temporarily blocked without prior notice if Verizon deems it necessary to prevent unlawful or fraudulent use of its services.
- International rates for direct-dialed international calls will vary depending on calling destination. Prices do not include taxes and surcharges such as Universal Service Fees. If your local phone company assesses a switching fee when you switch to Verizon Long Distance, we will reimburse you to offset the switching charge. Verizon Long Distance will be the international carrier of choice for each customer who purchases domestic long distance services from the company.
- Many foreign telecommunications companies impose premium fees on Verizon Long Distance to complete international calls to certain types of devices or services. These include calls made to wireless phones, pagers, personal computers and personal digital assistants (PDAs); calls that require satellite technology; and calls to information services, such as chat lines or other 900-type numbers. If you make an international call to one of these devices or services, the call will be billed at a higher (“premium”) rate than the standard rate for other international calls. Premium fees are added to the standard rate and will be charged regardless of which international calling plan you subscribe to. If you do not select an international calling plan, these surcharges are added to Basic international rates. Devices and services that are billed premium fees are subject to change without advanced notice. For current standard and premium termination per minute rates, you can go to verizon.com/internationalrates.
- Verizon International plans are for residential voice use and may not be used for commercial purposes.
- Services provided by Verizon Long Distance, where authorized.
- Please note: A service charge will apply to operator-completed calls and a 50¢ surcharge will apply to calls placed from a domestic payphone.
