14 Describe the organizational action and, if applicable, the date of the action or the date against which shareholders' ownership is measured for the action ▶ AOL Inc. ("AOL") made a one-time, special cash distribution of $5.15 per common share on December 14, 2012 to shareholders of record at the close of business on December 5, 2012 (the "Special Distribution"). No portion of the Special Distribution will be treated as a dividend for United States federal income tax purposes. The Special Distribution is a return of capital.

15 Describe the quantitative effect of the organizational action on the basis of the security in the hands of a U.S. taxpayer as an adjustment per share or as a percentage of old basis ▶ The shareholder's basis in each share of common stock on the date of distribution will be reduced by $5.15. If the shareholder's basis in such share was less than $5.15, then a portion of the distribution may be treated as gain from the sale or exchange of property.

16 Describe the calculation of the change in basis and the data that supports the calculation, such as the market values of securities and the valuation dates ▶ AOL has determined that no portion of the Special Distribution is from earnings and profits and therefore, no portion of the Special Distribution is a dividend for United States federal income tax purposes. The Special Distribution is a return of capital.

 Section 301(c)(3) - a distribution which is not a dividend and which is in excess of the basis in stock is treated as a gain from the sale or exchange of property.
 Section 312 - rules relating to the calculation of earnings and profits

18 Can any resulting loss be recognized? ▶ N/A. No loss shall be recognized as a result of the Special Distribution.

19 Provide any other information necessary to implement the adjustment, such as the reportable tax year ▶ This organizational action is reportable with respect to the 2012 tax year.
