

Private wireless in healthcare: measurable business benefits

Among healthcare organizations surveyed that have deployed private wireless:

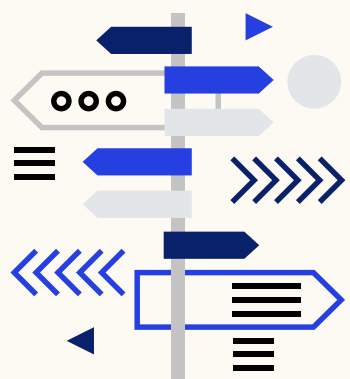

100%

reported measurable benefits since deploying private wireless

85%

reporting “Fewer connection failures / interruptions due to coverage gaps” reported ‘Significant’ or ‘Very Significant’ improvements

100%

reporting “Improved asset and staff location tracking” reported ‘Significant’ or ‘Very Significant’ improvements

From “Business Benefits of Private Wireless: how network performance can power operational outcomes” 305 large enterprises with private wireless networks surveyed, including 33 healthcare organizations (GlobalData, Spring 2026). Individual results may vary based on use case, site conditions, and deployment scale. Survey findings are based on a study of 305 enterprises commissioned and sponsored by Verizon.

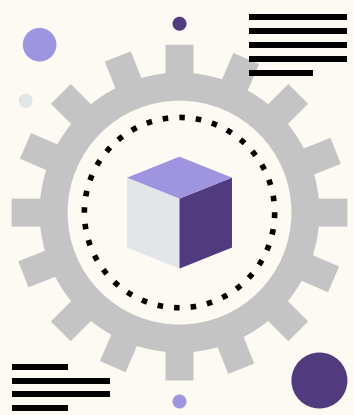

Read the white paper here

Private wireless in manufacturing: measurable business benefits

Among manufacturing organizations surveyed that have deployed private wireless:

100%

reported measurable benefits since deploying private wireless

85%

reporting “Enabled/improved mission-critical communications” reported “Significant” or “Very Significant” improvements

95%

reporting “Increased process/production line productivity” reported “Significant” or “Very Significant” improvements

From “Business Benefits of Private Wireless: how network performance can power operational outcomes” 305 large enterprises with private wireless networks surveyed, including 71 manufacturing organizations (GlobalData, Spring 2026). Individual results may vary based on use case, site conditions, and deployment scale. Survey findings are based on a study of 305 enterprises commissioned and sponsored by Verizon.

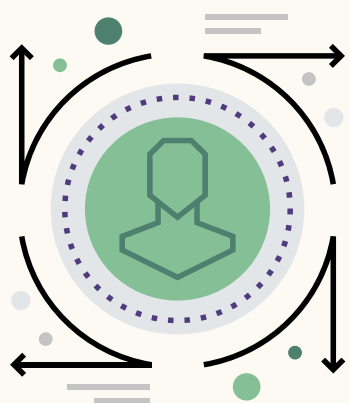

Read the white paper here

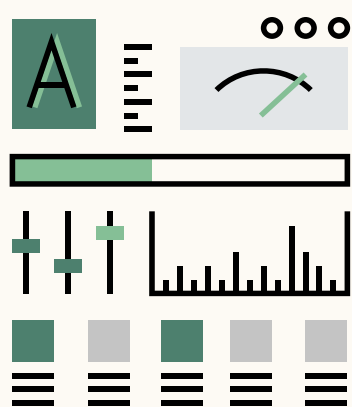

Private wireless in logistics & transport: measurable business benefits

Among logistics & transport organizations surveyed that have deployed private wireless:

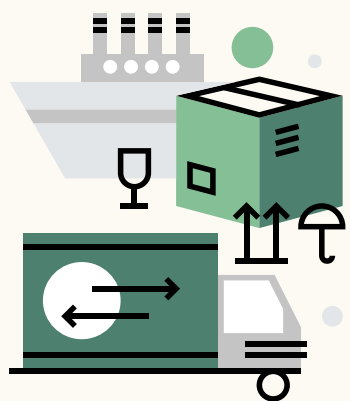

100%

reported measurable benefits since deploying private wireless

86%

reporting “Enhanced network reliability and performance” reported “Significant” or “Very Significant” improvements

100%

reporting “Improved asset tracking and utilization” reported “Significant” or “Very Significant” improvements

From “Business Benefits of Private Wireless: how network performance can power operational outcomes” 305 large enterprises with private wireless networks surveyed, including 64 logistics and transport organizations (GlobalData, Spring 2026). Individual results may vary based on use case, site conditions, and deployment scale. Survey findings are based on a study of 305 enterprises commissioned and sponsored by Verizon.

Read the white paper here

