

Reliable connectivity can transform communities.

Solution brief

Verizon launches new Digital Inclusion program on the MiCTA contract.

The Verizon Digital Inclusion program aims to provide wireless connectivity to organizations and agencies serving eligible users in order to promote economic and social advancement.

The digital divide hinders full participation in modern life. To help more communities gain access to wireless broadband and voice services, we launched the Verizon Digital Inclusion program.

Verizon is committed to economic and social advancement for everyone, and to a world where everyone can affordably participate in the digital economy.

The Verizon Digital Inclusion program makes certain mobile broadband and voice service plans and equipment available for purchase by governmental agencies and not-for-profit entities for use by eligible users they serve.

These include data and voice plans that can be paired with select hotspots, smartphones and basic phones, as well as tablets and embedded laptops purchased from Verizon or the Original Equipment Manufacturer.

To join the Verizon Digital Inclusion program:

Contact your local Verizon Account Manager for details and to get a price quote.

Eligible users include:

- Participants in the National School Lunch Program or School Breakfast Program
- Pell Grant, SNAP, Medicaid, Section 8 Voucher, Public Housing, or WIC recipients
- Members of households (as defined by federal tax guidelines) with a household income that is lower than 135% of the income designated by the Federal Poverty Guidelines¹
- Participants in one of these assistance programs and lives on qualifying tribal lands: Bureau of Indian Affairs General Assistance, Tribal TANF, Food Distribution Program on Indian Reservations, Tribal Head Start, Affordable Housing Programs for American Indians, Alaska Natives, or Native Hawaiians.
