A. Inter-Office Transport (Continued)

- The pricing in the above table is representative of dollar per DS-0 mile rates.
- The number of DS-0 channels in any given circuit determines DS-0 mileage.
- There is a minimum inter-office transport mileage requirement of 200 miles per circuit. Any circuit with mileage under 200 miles will be raised to meet the 200 mile minimum.
- For pricing purposes three DS-3 circuits will equate to 155 Mbps (OC-3).
- For pricing purposes four DS-3 circuits will equate to 200 Mbps (155 Mbps + 45 Mbps).
- For pricing purposes pricing will be based on an aggregate bandwidth.
- Bandwidth can only be aggregated through Tier 6. Example: 20 OC-12 circuits would be priced in Tier 6.
- OC-48 pricing is stand-alone and cannot be comprised of aggregated bandwidth. OC-48 pricing is not eligible for the multi-circuit/multi-term volume discount and does not count towards the minimum monthly recurring charge (MMRC.)

Example: Customer purchases three DS-3 circuits and one OC-3 circuit. The aggregate bandwidth for the DS-3s would be 155 Mbps (per note above) plus the OC-3 bandwidth of 155 Mbps for a total bandwidth of 310 Mbps. This configuration would fall into the Tier 3 pricing structure.

B. Local Access Charges

Carrier will set up local access arrangements on behalf of Customer as requested for the Digital Private Line Service purchased. Any charges associated with the provisioning of the access circuits, including but not limited to, local access charges, coordination charges, access service order charges, or any other charge associated with gaining access from Customer premise to the POP will be considered access charges. This includes any NRC incurred in association with obtaining access regardless of contract term. Any special construction or non-standard charges assessed by the company supplying the local access will also be the responsibility of Customer. Any such access charge as described above will be passed through to Customer in accordance with this Tariff.

C. Additional Facility Charges

Back-haul charges and tail circuit charges may also apply when Customer requests service to any location where the Direct Line POP cannot support the requested type of service. Any charges associated with provisions of such additional facilities, including but not limited to back-haul, tail circuits, or any other charges associated with transition to/from non-listed cities will be considered additional facilities charges. This includes any NRC incurred regardless of contract terms. Any special construction or non-standard charges assessed by the company supplying additional facilities will also be the responsibility of Customer. Any such charge as described above will be passed through to Customer in accordance with this Tariff.

Inter-Office Channel - POP to POP transport.
Local Access Facilities - access line on both the originating and terminating ends of the circuit.

Inter-Office Channel (IOC) (T)

Charges include a Nonrecurring Charge (NRC), a Monthly Recurring Charge (MRC) that is either a minimum charge or a per-mile rate, whichever is greater. Rates for mileage bands are based on a per-circuit basis. (C) (C)

1.43.6 Discount Plans

Carrier offers discounts based on the term of Customer's commitment to Carrier's service. Customers may subscribe to Frame Relay Service for term plans for one, two or three years. Discounts apply to and are calculated using MRCs for ports, UNI PVCs, NNI PVCs, management PVCs, disaster recovery PVCs and NNI connection rates. Discounts do not apply to local access facilities, or NRCs.

For any term plan, the rates and term plan discounts will be fixed for the term at the discounts listed in Rates and Charges Section, applicable when Customer subscribes to the service. The term will begin on the first day of the month following the date the service is installed and available. Upon expiration, the term will be automatically extended at the one year term plan rates and discounts, unless 30 days prior to the end of the term written notice is given to Carrier that Customer does not want an extension, or Customer subscribes to another term plan and the rates of the new term apply.

If additional sites are added to Customer's Frame Relay Service after the initial subscription to a term plan, such sites will be incorporated in to Customer's term plan and will have the same termination date as Customer's original term plan.

The Monthly Revenue Commitment will be determined by the total Monthly Recurring Charges (MRCs) before discounts. Discounts apply to MRCs for ports, PVCs (UNI, NNI, management, disaster recovery), and Virtual NNI ports. Discounts do not apply to local access facilities, NRCs, or expedite fees.

For any term plan, the rates and term plan discounts will be fixed for the term at the discounts listed in this section, applicable when Customer subscribes to the service. The term will begin on the in-service date for the first circuit in the network. (N)

D. Rating of Calls (N)

Domestic calls will be sub-minute rated based on an initial period of 18 seconds, with the additional periods being billed in six-second increments thereafter.

E. Rate Determination

Customer's fixed rates are calculated by determining Customer's annual dollar commitment and the term of the agreement selected by Customer. Customer must select a one, two, or three-year term commitment and annual commitment levels of $120,000, $240,000, $360,000, $480,000, $720,000, or $960,000.

F. Minimum Revenue Commitment

If Customer does not achieve the annual commitment level, they will be assessed the incremental difference annually. For example, if Customer commits to $240,000 annually and the actual long distance usage is $200,000, then Customer will be billed for the $40,000 shortfall. In addition, the current rates will be re-negotiated based on the new adjusted commitment level.

G. Early Termination Charges

If Customer terminates the contract prior to fulfillment of the term selected, an Early Termination Charge (ETC) of 40% of Customer's annual commitment will be billed to Customer for the number of years remaining under Customer-selected commitment.

D. Determining Usage Charges

Monthly usage charges are calculated separately for each exchange access line termination. There is a minimum usage charge based on the average completed call of 30 seconds per completed call for each billing period for each rate period. Therefore, if the average duration of all such calls is less than 30 seconds, the total use equals the number of calls multiplied by 30 seconds. Usage charges apply as follows:

1. For each exchange access line termination of a given toll free number, the total chargeable hours for each rate period for each termination is the greater of (a) or (b) following, rounded up to the nearest tenth.

   (a) Determine the total actual Business/Residence Line Toll Free Service hours associated with a given toll free number and exchange access line for each rate period (chargeable time for each call) or;

   (b) Determine the total equivalent hours associated with a given toll free number for the exchange access line termination used for each rate period by applying the minimum average time requirement of 30 seconds per call (1 call X 30 seconds).

2. Using the total chargeable hours per rate period determined in 1. preceding and the table of hourly rates, multiply the hourly rates(s) in the appropriate usage tier by the number of hours used in each usage tier. The total charge is the sum of all the usage.

3. The charges for a fractional part of a month will be a proportionate part of the monthly recurring charge based on the actual number of days service is provided, plus the usage charges applicable for that month. Every month is considered to have 30 days.

Area Code Routing enables Customer to have calls placed on the same toll free number routed differently based upon the originating area code of the caller.

A default routing is required for Area Code Routing. Permissible area codes include all area codes in the conterminous United States.

Upon request, Carrier will update a subscriber's Area Code Routing feature at no charge if the update is due to an area code split or a new area code being added to the North American Numbering Plan.

The proper usage rate based on point of call origination will be applied to each call.

3. Area Code/Exchange Control

Area Code/Exchange Control allows Customer to route calls placed on the same toll free number to different termination locations, can be switched or dedicated, based on the originating area code and exchange of the caller and allows Customer to block calls to a toll free number based on the originating area code and exchange of the caller.

4. Area Code/Exchange Routing

Area Code/Exchange Routing enables Customers to have calls placed on the same toll free number routed differently based upon the originating area code and exchange of the caller. Exchanges cannot be divided for routing purposes. This feature requires the Area Code Routing feature to identify the area codes and is not to be used as a stand-alone feature.

Default routing is required for Area Code/Exchange Routing. Customer will specify a separate routing for non-equal access calls when Automatic Number Identification (ANI) is not available. (N)

If service is interrupted for a period of two hours to 24 hours, a per day credit applies as set forth below. For the purpose of determining the credit allowance, every month is considered to have 30 days.

1. An interruption allowance is determined by calculating the rate for one full day (minimum monthly rate divided by 30), multiplying the result by the number of days credited as specified in 2.

2. In determining the interruption allowance, the "proportionate part of day credited" applies as set forth below:

Interruption of 24 hours or less:

- less than 2 hours	No credit
- 2 hours up to 24 hours	One day

Interruption over 24 hours:

Credit will be in one day multiples for each 2 hour period of service interruption, not to exceed one full day's credit for any period of 24 hours.

3. Credit allowances will not be made for:

(a) Noncompletion of Business/Residence Line Toll Free messages due to busy network conditions.

(b) Interruption of service due to customer provided equipment or systems.

(c) Interruption of service due to negligence of Customer.

(d) During any period when Customer has released the access line for maintenance purposes or implementation of Customer order for a change in service arrangement.

2. Contract Liability Extension

If one of the first two conditions and the second and third provision exist, Carrier and Customer may agree to transition Customer to the next lower annual commitment level:

- If after the ninth month in a one-year contract, Customer is not on schedule to reach their commitment level at the end of the 12 months; or, if after the 11th month in a two or three-year term contract, Customer is not on schedule to reach their commitment level at the end of the first year;

- Customer must meet at least 75% of the original annual commitment level;

- Customer must have an original annual commitment level no less than $240,000.

Upon agreement by both Carrier and Customer, Customer's rates will be re-negotiated based on the new adjusted annual commitment level either before the 12th month anniversary date in a one-year contract or within 45 days after the 12th month anniversary date in a two or three-year term contract. This commitment term and volume will not be re-negotiated more than once in any consecutive 18-month period. In conjunction with this re-negotiation, Customer will be assessed five percent on the actual long distance usage billed for the subject year. For example, if Customer's original annual commitment was $480,000 for a two-year term and Customer's actual long distance usage for the first 12 months is $400,000, then Customer has the option to adjust the commitment level to $360,000 for a new two-year term. However, Customer will be billed five percent of the $400,000, which is $20,000. (N)

2.5.35 Frame Relay Service - This service is no longer available to new Customers.

A. General

Frame Relay Service is a high- performance, cost effective data offering for connectivity of multiple local area networks (LANs) or Systems Network Architecture (SNA) locations. Frame Relay Service uses shared facilities and statistical multiplexing to transport data communications (packets). Frame Relay Service delivers bandwidth-on-demand internetworking connections for intensive, busty data transmission applications.

Dedicated access facilities provide access to the frame relay network through ports on a frame relay switch. Connectivity to the frame relay network is provided through Permanent Virtual Circuits (PVCs) which provide logical software connections for communication between ports on the network. Multiple PVCs can be defined on any given port providing a single access line the capability to transport data to multiple destinations.

Statewide Frame Relay Service utilizes a Network to Network Interface (NNI) to connect Local Exchange Carrier (LEC) frame relay services in different Local Access and Transport Areas (LATAs) within the same state boundaries. This service allows Customers to connect separate frame relay arrangements across LATA boundaries.

B. Rate Elements

There are four primary components to Statewide Frame Relay Service:

- Local Access Facility (dedicated)
- Frame Relay Port
- Data Link Connection Identifier(DLCI)
- Statewide PVC

1. Local Access Facility - allows Customers the ability to access the frame relay network at speeds from 56/64 Kbps (DS0), 1.536 Mbps (DS-1), or 44.210 Mbps (DS-3) digital facilities.

2. Frame Relay Port (local) - provides the physical connection between the local access facility and the frame relay network. The port also provides the logical termination of the PVCs assigned to the port.

Depending on the Customer's network requirements, Statewide Frame Relay Service may require an additional DLCI to be added for the PVC.

   A Committed Information Rate (CIR) is assigned to each PVC. The CIR defines the average minimum data transmission rate the network will allocate to the PVC under normal operating conditions. The data transmission rate for a PVC can exceed the CIR when excess capacity is available on the port and on the network.

4. Statewide PVC- provides a logical dedicated communications path (circuit) between two ports on the Statewide Frame Relay Network that originates in one LATA and terminates in a different LATA. Rates for this service are found in Section 1.32.

C. Terms and Conditions

Statewide Frame Relay is provided where facilities and operating conditions permit and where technically feasible. Statewide Frame Relay Service is offered subject to availability from underlying Carriers. Customers must give Carrier 30 days prior written notice to terminate Statewide Frame Relay Service.

Frame Relay Service is exempt from any promotions or discounts offered by Carrier.

2.5.36 Direct Line Service

2.5.36.1 Description of Service

Direct Line Service encompasses dedicated point-to-point private line connections through non-switched, non-usage sensitive, dedicated facilities that enable the user to send and receive data transactions at Customer's selected bandwidth. This offering provides Customer with the ability to have a truly scaleable private line network utilizing Protected Ring or Linear Service circuits; Customer's network can easily be upgraded to circuit speeds at the OC-3, OC-12, and OC-48 levels within the specific service type.

Direct Line Service is currently available to Customers in the continental U.S. where Carrier has the necessary intrastate facilities in place to offer high-bandwidth speeds of DS-3, OC-3, OC-12, and OC-48 Private Line. Service is offered subject to availability of necessary facilities and services.

Direct Line Service can be ordered either as a "full service" arrangement (end to end service) which is installed and maintained from one Customer premise to another Customer premise. It can also be ordered as a "baseline service" arrangement (POP-to-POP) in which Customer provides for his/her own local access and is responsible for the installation and maintenance of the local access loops.

A. Protected Ring Service

The Protected Ring Service utilizes self-healing SONET ring technology to maximize capacity and provide fault-tolerant performance. The SONET rings utilize 4-Fiber BLSR (Bi-Directional Line Switched Ring) pairs enabling the system to re-route traffic either on a protection span or on a switched path sending the traffic in the opposite direction.

2.5.36.2 Additional Charges/Regulations

A. Expedites

Carrier may offer expedites for Protected Ring Service only. However, Carrier does not guarantee a shortened installation interval for every accepted expedite request.

B. Upgrades to Higher Speed Service

Customers may elect to upgrade service(s) to a higher speed only within the same service type during a contract term subject to the following conditions. Upgrade refers to the act of increasing a Direct Line Service circuit speed; for example, from a DS-3 level to an OC-3 circuit or an OC-12 to an OC-48 circuit or the upgrade to an advanced technology such as ATM.

When Customer upgrades service, the order to discontinue service at an existing speed or capacity and the order to upgrade service must be received by Carrier at the same time. The total MRC of the new agreement must be equal to or greater than the total monthly rate of the existing agreement. Rates for the upgraded service including any discount will be those in effect at the time of the service upgrade. Termination liability charges will not apply as long as the upgraded service remains connected at the same point of termination(s), is within the same service type, and is provided by Carrier. Any charges associated with local access or additional facilities that occur in the termination of the existing circuits and the provisioning of the upgraded circuits will be passed through to Customer. Transport charges associated with this service are calculated according to the inter-office transport rates within this Tariff effective at the time of the upgrade.

C. Renewal Options

At the end of a contract term, Customer will have 60 days at the current contract rate in which to renew his contract for another term under the rates applicable at the time of renewal. If at the end of the 60 day grace period, Customer has not selected a renewal plan or has not requested the termination of service, he will be billed at the month to month rate that is in effect for the circuit type(s) being billed.

One-Year Contract: 100% of any remaining portion of the first year's recurring charges for the all circuits in-service.

Two-Year Contract: 100% of any remaining portion of the first year's recurring charges. In addition, for any remaining portion of the second year, Customer will be liable for 50% of the total MRCs in that time term for all circuits in-service.

Three-Year Contract: 100% of any remaining portion of the first year's recurring charges. In addition, for any remaining portion of the second and third year, Customer will be liable for 40% of the total MRCs in that time term for all circuits in-service.

Five-Year Contract: 100% of any remaining portion of the first year's recurring charges. In addition, for any remaining portion of the second through fifth years, Customer will be liable for 20% of the total MRCs in that time term for all circuits in-service.

Credit of termination liability charges for this service may be applicable in the case of re-establishment of similar service of equal to or higher speeds within six months of termination for the same length of the contract term. Carrier's One Wide Area Network (One WAN) service is a high-speed, cell based offering that provides Customers a single platform to integrate their voice, video and data communications needs. It combines the statistical multiplexing efficiencies of packet switching with the low delay characteristics of circuit switching technologies.

Carrier service offering establishes connections between Customer's site and one or more locations. Each connection may be a Permanent Virtual Channel Connection (PVCC) or a Permanent Virtual Path Connection (PVPC). Each supported virtual connection is a point-to-point connection. Carrier's service is a connection-oriented, cell-based service capable of physical access interconnection speeds from DS-1 to OC-12c.

One WAN is available to Customers in the continental U.S. where Carrier has the necessary intrastate facilities in place.

Service is offered subject to availability of necessary intrastate facilities and services and is provided only through designated points of presence.

2.5.37 One Wide Area Network (One WAN) Service (Continued)

2.5.37.1 Description of Service (Continued)

There are three major network elements required to provision this service.

A. Local Access

A digital private line connecting Customer location to the Carrier network is required in this service offering. This service can be provisioned over DS1, NxDS-1 where N=2-8 using Inverse Multiplexing Over ATM (IMA), DS3, OC3c, and OC12c digital private line connections. If NxDS-1 access is required, IMA equipment will be required for each Nx-DS-1 access location. This access line speed will mirror the required port speed. Each access line can accommodate multiple virtual circuits or paths.

B. Port

A port provides the physical entry into Carrier's switch and is required for provisioning this service. Customers can order port(s) based on the speed of port connection applicable for each digital private line connection to the network switch supporting this service. Each port can accommodate multiple virtual connections.

Furthermore, a DS-1 local access can be supported by either a DS-1 ATM port or a DS-1 Circuit Emulation Service (CES) port. A DS-1 CES port only supports constant bit rate class of service PVCs.

C. Permanent Virtual Connections

A PVCC and a PVPC are logical circuits that define a specific path for data sent by Customer to another location. These connections are virtual because they are established in software tables and allow all PVPCs and PVCCs on the port to share the available port bandwidth. This also allows multiple logical connections to be defined on any given port, thereby providing a single access line the capability to transmit data to multiple destinations. PVPC provides for aggregation of multiple PVCCs into a single path. All PVCCs in the Permanent Virtual Path (PVP) must have the same originating and terminating end ports.

PVCs are defined by the class of service and transmission speed selected.

1. Class of Service

Classes of service are dictated by the traffic priority parameters. Traffic prioritization parameters refer to priorities given to cell transmissions and sensitivity of cells to delay variation and loss within the network. Constant Bit Rate (CBR) traffic is given first priority, Variable Bit Rate-Real Time (VBR-rt) traffic is given second priority. Variable Bit Rate-Non Real Time (VBR-nrt) traffic is given third priority and Unspecified Bit Bate (UBR) is given last priority, based upon the traffic in the network at any given point in time.

These are the four classes of service offered to Customers:

- Constant Bit Rate (CBR): A class of service that supports the transmission of a continuous bit stream of traffic from those applications such as video, voice, and circuit emulation, which require rigorous timing control and performance parameters.

- Variable Bit Rate-Real Time (VBR-rt): A class of service that allows the transmission of applications requiring low cell delay variation. For example, VBR-rt would be utilized for applications such as variable bit rate video compression, and packetized voice and video, which are somewhat tolerant of delay.

- Variable Bit Rate-Non Real Time (VBR-nrt): A class of service that allows for applications that can tolerate larger cell delay variation than VBR-rt. For example VBR-nrt would be utilized for applications such as data file transfers.

- Unspecified Bit Rate (UBR): A class of service that allows for applications that only require “Best Effort” transport performance and are not delay sensitive.

2. Transmission Speed

Transmission speed is a function of the amount of logical bandwidth reserved for each PVCC and PVPC. This speed is designated by Peak Cell Rate (PCR) and/or Sustained Cell Rate (SCR). PCR and/or SCR is assigned to each PVCC or PVPC. PCR is the highest available transmission rate on a VBR and the continuous transmission rate allowed for a CBR connection. VBR connections will have a pre-designated PCR. SCR is the average transmission rate for a VBR connection.

Customers may purchase PCR or SCR in 64 Kbps or 1 Mbps increments. Subject to the port speed selected, PCR or SCR connection speeds can range from 64 Kbps - 622 Mbps.

D. Gateway Services

Frame Relay to ATM Service Interworking allows the interconnection of Frame Relay Customer locations to ATM Customer locations over the One WAN service platform.

2.5.37.2 Additional Charges/Regulations

Customer has the ability to choose between either Option 1 or Option 2 to price their entire network. These pricing options are mutually exclusive.

A. Expedites

Carrier may offer expedites. However, Carrier does not guarantee a shortened installation interval for every accepted expedite request.

B. Upgrade to Higher Speed Service

Customers may elect to upgrade service(s) to a higher speed during a contract period, subject to all of the following conditions. The new service agreement for the upgraded service(s) must meet or exceed the remaining length of the existing service agreement. The total Monthly Recurring Charge (MRC) of the new agreement must be equal to or greater than the total monthly rate of the existing agreement period. Rates for the upgraded service and/or service elements will be those in effect at the time of the service upgrade. Termination liability charges will not apply as long as the upgraded service remains connected at the same point of termination(s) and is provided by Carrier. If all of the above conditions are met, change fees will not apply to the upgraded One WAN Port or PVC elements.

2.5.40 GTE Away from Home[sm]

Carrier introduces a new calling card plan for residential Customers featuring three levels of domestic calling card packages designed to meet varying Customer requirements. This plan also includes lower toll free and Personal 800 Number rates. This plan allows Customers to originate long distance calls via a Carrier provided toll free number. Customers will be billed a flat rate for each call that originates and terminates within the mainland U.S., Alaska, Hawaii, Guam, Puerto Rico, and U.S. Virgin Islands. GTE Away from Home is available 24 hours a day, seven days per week, where facilities exist. All calls are rated in full minute increments. The duration of a call, which involves a partial minute, will be rounded up to the next full minute. If Customer has an existing long distance plan that provides calling card and toll free rates, enrolling in this plan will override the plan rates. A monthly recurring charge may apply. A payphone surcharge will be assessed, where applicable, on all calls made from a public payphone. Any other applicable surcharges will apply. Customer must PIC to Carrier and remain presubscribed to receive this service. In the event Customer requests another carrier, this service will remain active for no more that 60 days. Rates are found in Section 1.37.

2.5.41 Block of Time

A. General

The Block of Time plan enables residential Customers to purchase 60 minutes of domestic direct dial calling each month for a nominal fee. The first 60 minutes may include either intrastate or interstate minutes or a combination thereof.

B. Restrictions/Conditions

Any direct dial calls over the initial 60 minutes will be billed at an additional minute rate. Included in this plan are calling card and toll free rates. The duration of a call that involves a partial minute will be rounded up to the next higher full minute. Calling card, toll free, operator assisted and directory assistance calls are not included within the first 60 minutes. Applicable surcharges will be applied.

At plan inception, for a partial month, any unused portion of the first 60 minutes will not carry over to the next month, but the fee for the first 60 minutes and usage will be prorated. Example: If Customer has 120 minutes in usage in the partial month, the 60 minutes will be fully utilized and Customer pays full fee. If Customer enrolls in plan mid-month and has 30 minutes of usage, the fee Customer paid for the 60 minutes and usage will be prorated.

Customer may only subscribe to one Carrier discount plan per main billing account at any given time and must designate Carrier as their PIC. This plan is an add-on to Carrier's interstate Tariff FCC No. 1 and will be available where facilities and billing capabilities permit. Plan is intended for residential usage only. 2.5 Service Offerings (Continued)

2.5.40 GTE Away from Home[sm]

Carrier introduces a new calling card plan for residential Customers featuring three levels of domestic calling card packages designed to meet varying Customer requirements. This plan also includes lower toll free and Personal 800 Number rates. This plan allows Customers to originate long distance calls via a Carrier provided toll free number. Customers will be billed a flat rate for each call that originates and terminates within the mainland U.S., Alaska, Hawaii, Guam, Puerto Rico, and U.S. Virgin Islands. GTE Away from Home is available 24 hours a day, seven days per week, where facilities exist. All calls are rated in full minute increments. The duration of a call, which involves a partial minute, will be rounded up to the next full minute. If customer has an existing long distance plan that provides calling card and toll free rates, enrolling in this plan will override the plan rates. A monthly recurring charge may apply. A payphone surcharge will be assessed, where applicable, on all calls made from a public payphone. Any other applicable surcharges will apply. Customer must PIC to Carrier and remain presubscribed to receive this service. In the event Customer requests another carrier, this service will remain active for no more that 60 days. Rates are found in Section 1.37.

2.5.41 Block of Time

C. General

The Block of Time plan enables residential Customers to purchase 60 minutes of domestic direct dial calling each month for a nominal fee. The first 60 minutes may include either intrastate or interstate minutes or a combination thereof.

D. Restrictions/Conditions

2.5.43 Frame Relay Service

This service is no longer available to new Customers.

A. General

Frame Relay Service is a high-performance, cost effective data offering for connectivity of multiple local area networks (LANs) or Systems Network Architecture (SNA) locations. Frame Relay Service uses shared facilities and statistical multiplexing to transport data communications. Frame Relay Service delivers bandwidth-on-demand internetworking connections, providing up to T1 speeds. It is ideal for intensive, bursty data transmission applications.

Dedicated access facilities provide access to the frame relay network through ports. Connectivity to the frame relay network is provided through permanent virtual circuits (PVCs) which provide logical software connections for communications between ports on the network. Multiple PVCs can be defined on any given port providing a single access line the capability to transmit data to multiple destinations.

B. Rate Elements

There are three primary components to Frame Relay Service:

- Local Access Facility (dedicated)
- Frame Relay Port
- Permanent Virtual Circuit (PVCs)

1. Local Access Facility - Customers may access the frame relay network through 56 Kbps (DS0) or 1.544 Mbps (DS1) digital facilities.

2. Frame Relay Port - The frame relay port provides the physical connection between the local access facility and the frame relay network. The port also provides the logical termination of the PVCs assigned to the port. The port speed provides the maximum (burst) speed for which Customer is capable of sending or receiving information through an individual port. Customers select a speed for each frame relay port, ranging from 56 Kbps to 1.544 Mbps. The sum of the individual PVCs speed can not exceed the port speed. The port speed must be large enough to accommodate the cumulative egress of all PVCs connected to the port.

B. Rate Elements (Continued)

3. Frame Relay Permanent Virtual Circuit (PVC) and Committed Information Rate (CIR) - The PVC provides the logical dedicated communications path (circuit) between two ports. PVCs use packet switching technology to automatically route around network related failures. PVCs are predefined for each pair of end point devices so a virtual network path (circuit) is always available without call set-up delay. This results in faster access to the network, better response time for end user applications, and a high degree of network security.

   A Committed Information Rate (CIR) is assigned to each PVC. The CIR defines the average minimum data transmission rate the network will allocate to the PVC under normal operating conditions. The data transmission rate for a PVC can exceed the CIR when excess capacity is available on the port and on the network. When excess capacity exists, an average data rate above the CIR may be achieved up to the port capacity. Data sent across a virtual connection in excess of the connection's CIR will be marked by the network as being discard eligible in the event of network congestion, and will be delivered only if the instantaneous demand for the output on the transmission channel is equal to or less than the capacity of the queue for that channel.

4. Network to Network Interface (NNI)

   This option permits customers to connect separate frame relay network arrangements. In addition to regular Frame Relay Service rates, Non-Recurring Charges and Monthly Recurring Charges for a PVC and for the NNI connection will apply. The PVC is available at a designated CIR, and the NNI connection charge corresponds to the PVC/CIR selected.

C. Features

1. Service Standards

   Network availability is calculated by taking network downtime in minutes and subtracting it from Customer's total monthly minutes. The result is divided by the total monthly minutes for all PVCs. The monthly minutes are determined by multiplying the number of days and quantity of PVCs in a month by 1,440. The resulting percentage provides Customer's calculated network availability. Carrier defines network downtime as the number of minutes from Customer reported outage at a PVC level until Customer accepted cleared outage report.

Carrier is committed to maintain a service delivery data rate of 98.0%, for Customer's frame relay virtual network. This data rate is measured monthly based on statistics included in Carrier's monthly frame relay performance report. Carrier will refund one month's recurring charges for the frame relay port and the PVC for failing to meet the service delivery commitment. There will be no credit given for any access facility that does not maintain the service delivery data rate. Service remains subject to all Regulations in Rule 3 above.

(a) Service delivery data rate is calculated as follows:

Rate = TEK / (TIK-SDBBEK), where

TIK is the Total Ingress Kiloframes. The total number of Kiloframes offered to the frame relay network, by all PVCs across all access facilities.

TEK is the Total Egress Kiloframes. The total number of Kiloframes delivered by the frame relay network, by all PVCs across all access facilities.

SDBBEK is the Subtotal Discarded BC + BE Exceeded Kiloframes. The number of total discarded Kiloframes induced by Customer access facilities with mismatched speeds. BC represents the data rate allowed under normal conditions across a PVC. BE represents the maximum burst allowed across a PVC; Carrier uses a BE PVC setting to restrict a Customer with two different access facility speeds from offering the network more data than the remote location could physically receive (e.g., one access facility has an access speed of 1.544 Mbps and a remote access facility of 56 Kbps; it would be impossible for the remote location to receive continuous burst of 1.544 Mbps speeds). If a Customer burst is above BE, the data will be discarded at the entry level port.

(b) Components excluded from the calculation of service delivery data rate (and any associated refunds) are:

- Customers with network configuration of less than four PVCs and less than 5,000 Kiloframes; (T)
- any act or omission on the part of any third party including, but not limited to, any local access provider;
- data loss during the scheduled maintenance windows;
- data lost resulting from Customer configurations where the egress port is not engineered with enough capacity to handle traffic loads from the remote sites;
- a month in which a Customer fails to transmit in aggregate at least 5,000 Kiloframes of data;
- back-up PVCs;
- any month in which Customer undergoes network configuration changes, such as upgrades to, or additions of PVCs or access ports; (T)
- discarded frames due to excess BC + BE data (subtracted as part of the service delivery data rate); and
- no credit for the first month of service.

(c) Service Delivery

In the event that actual service delivery data rate falls below committed data rate and Carrier is unable to remedy such failure within 60 days, Carrier will migrate these PVCs that have not met the standard within that 60 day period to a 19.2 Kbps minimum data rate. There is no additional charge for this migration or use of the 19.2 Kbps minimum data rate. After the service is able to meet the minimum, Carrier may migrate the 19.2 Kbps PVCs back to regular Frame Relay Service.

2. Disaster Recovery

This feature provides connection arrangements for Customer's remote back-up host or hosts. In the event of a primary failure, Customer's local workstation can establish another connection (back-up PVC) to the remote back-up host via the frame relay network and continue with normal operations. Back-up PVCs are incremental PVCs that can be added into the circuit configuration to provide an alternate data delivery path. Disaster Recovery is only available at zero CIR.

3. Local Access Diversity

Local access diversity provides a diverse physical link through a secondary or alternate route from Customer premise to the access POP. This provides a back-up circuit in the event of a primary circuit failure. Any special construction or non-standard charges incurred by Customer will be the responsibility of Customer.

D. Additional Terms and Conditions of Service

Frame Relay Service is provided where facilities and operating conditions permit and where technically feasible.

Minimum service period for Frame Relay Service is one year.

Customer must give Carrier 30 days prior written notice to terminate Frame Relay Service. Rates that are in effect at the time Customer signs the original contract will remain in effect until the contract expires.

2.5.45 Frame Relay Service II

This service is no longer available to new Customers. (C)

A. General

Frame Relay Service is a high-performance, cost effective data offering for connectivity of multiple Local Area Networks (LANs) or Systems Network Architecture (SNA) locations. Frame Relay Service uses shared facilities and statistical multiplexing to transport data communications. Frame Relay Service delivers bandwidth-on-demand internetworking connections, providing up to T1 speeds. It is ideal for intensive, bursty data transmission applications.

Dedicated access facilities provide access to the frame relay network through ports. Connectivity to the frame relay network is provided through Permanent Virtual Circuits (PVCs) which provide logical software connections for communications between ports on the network. Multiple PVCs can be defined on any given port providing a single access line the capability to transmit data to multiple destinations.

B. Rate Elements

There are three primary components to Frame Relay Service:

- Local Access Facility (dedicated)
- Frame Relay Port
- Permanent Virtual Circuit (PVCs)

1. Local Access Facility - Customers may access the frame relay network through 56 Kbps (DS0) or 1.544 Mbps (DS1) digital facilities.

2. Frame Relay Port - The frame relay port provides the physical connection between the local access facility and the frame relay network. The port also provides the logical termination of the PVCs assigned to the port. The port speed provides the maximum (burst) speed for which Customer is capable of sending or receiving information through an individual port. Customers select a speed for each frame relay port, ranging from 56 Kbps to 1.544 Mbps. The sum of the individual PVCs speed can not exceed the port speed. The port speed must be large enough to accommodate the cumulative egress of all PVCs connected to the port.

B. Rate Elements (Continued)

3. Frame Relay Permanent Virtual Circuit (PVC) and Committed Information Rate (CIR) - The PVC provides the logical dedicated communications path (circuit) between two ports. PVCs use packet switching technology to automatically route around network related failures. PVCs are predefined for each pair of end point devices so a virtual network path (circuit) is always available without call set-up delay. This results in faster access to the network, better response time for end user applications, and a high degree of network security.

   A CIR is assigned to each PVC. The CIR defines the average minimum data transmission rate the network will allocate to the PVC under normal operating conditions. The data transmission rate for a PVC can exceed the CIR when excess capacity is available on the port and on the network. When excess capacity exists, an average data rate above the CIR may be achieved up to the port capacity. Data sent across a virtual connection in excess of the connection's CIR will be marked by the network as being discard eligible in event of network congestion, and will be delivered only if the instantaneous demand for the output on the transmission channel is equal to or less than the capacity of the queue for that channel.

4. Network to Network Interface (NNI)

   This option permits Customers to connect separate frame relay network arrangements. In addition to regular Frame Relay Service rates, Non-Recurring Charges (NRC) and Monthly Recurring Charges (MRCs) for a NNI PVC and for the NNI connections will apply. The NNI PVC is available at a designated CIR, and the NNI connection charges correspond to the NNI PVC/CIR selected.

C. Features

1. Service Standards

   Network availability is calculated by taking network downtime in minutes and subtracting it from Customer’s total monthly minutes. The result is divided by the total monthly minutes for all PVCs. The monthly minutes are determined by multiplying the number of days and quantity of PVCs in a month by 1,440. The resulting percentage provides Customer’s calculated network availability. Carrier defines network downtime as the number of minutes from Customer reported outage at a PVC level until Customer accepted cleared outage report.

1. Service Standards (Continued)

Carrier is committed to maintain a service delivery data rate of 98.0%, for Customer's frame relay virtual network. This data rate is measured monthly based on statistics included in Carrier's monthly frame relay performance report. Carrier will refund one MRC for the frame relay port and the PVC for failing to meet the service delivery commitment. There will be no credit given for any access facility that does not maintain the service delivery data rate. Service remains subject to all Regulations in Section 2 above.

(a) Service delivery data rate is calculated as follows:

Rate = TEK / (TIK-SDBBEK), where:

TIK is the Total Ingress Kiloframes. The total number of Kiloframes offered to the frame relay network, by all PVCs across all access facilities.

TEK is the Total Egress Kiloframes. The total number of Kiloframes delivered by the frame relay network, by all PVCs across all access facilities.

SDBBEK is the Subtotal Discarded BC + BE Exceeded Kiloframes. The number of total discarded Kiloframes induced by Customer access facilities with mismatched speeds. BC represents the data rate allowed under normal conditions across a PVC. BE represents the maximum burst allowed across a PVC; Carrier uses a BE PVC setting to restrict Customer with two different access facility speeds from offering the network more data than the remote location could physically receive (e.g., one access facility has an access speed of 1.544 Mbps and a remote access facility of 56 Kbps; it would be impossible for the remote location to receive continuous burst of 1.544 Mbps speeds). If Customer burst is above BE, the data will be discarded at the entry level port.

SDBBEK is the Subtotal Discarded BC + BE Exceeded Kiloframes. The number of total discarded Kiloframes induced by Customer access facilities with mismatched speeds. BC represents the data rate allowed under normal conditions across a PVC. BE represents the maximum burst allowed across a PVC; Carrier uses a BE PVC setting to restrict Customer with two different access facility speeds from offering the network more data than the remote location could physically receive (e.g., one access facility has an access speed of 1.544 Mbps and a remote access facility of 56 Kbps; it would be impossible for the remote location to receive continuous burst of 1.544 Mbps speeds). If Customer burst is above BE, the data will be discarded at the entry level port. (N)

(b) Components excluded from the calculation of service delivery data rate (and any associated refunds) are:

- Customers with network configuration of less than four PVCs and less than 5,000 Kiloframes;
- any act or omission on the part of any third party including, but not limited to, any local access provider;
- data loss during the scheduled maintenance windows;
- data lost resulting from Customer configurations where the egress port is not engineered with enough capacity to handle traffic loads from the remote sites;
- a month in which Customer fails to transmit in aggregate at least 5,000 Kiloframes of data;
- back-up PVCs;
- any month in which Customer undergoes network configuration changes, such as upgrades to, or additions of PVCs or access ports;
- discarded frames due to excess BC + BE data (subtracted as part of the service delivery data rate); and
- no credit for the first month of service.

(c) Service Delivery

In the event that actual service delivery data rate falls below committed data rate and Carrier is unable to remedy such failure within 60 days, Carrier will migrate these PVCs that have not met the standard within that 60 day period to a 19.2 Kbps minimum data rate. There is no additional charge for this migration or use of the 19.2 Kbps minimum data rate. After the service is able to meet the minimum, Carrier may migrate the 19.2 Kbps PVCs back to regular Frame Relay Service.

2. Disaster Recovery

This feature provides connection arrangements for Customer's remote back-up host or hosts. In the event of a primary failure, Customer's local workstation can establish another connection (back-up PVC) to the remote back-up host via the frame relay network and continue with normal operations. Back-up PVCs are incremental PVCs that can be added into the circuit configuration to provide an alternate data delivery path. Disaster recovery is only available at zero CIR.

3. Local Access Diversity

Local access diversity provides a diverse physical link through a secondary or alternate route from Customer premise to the access POP. This provides a back-up circuit in the event of a primary circuit failure. Any special construction or non-standard charges incurred by Customer will be the responsibility of Customer.

D. Additional Terms and Conditions of Service

Frame Relay Service is provided where facilities and operating conditions permit and where technically feasible.

Minimum service period for Frame Relay Service is one year.

Customer must give Carrier 30 days prior written notice to terminate Frame Relay Service.

Existing Customers will continue to pay the rates that were in effect at the time Customer signed the original contract. These rates will remain in effect until the contract expires, unless Customer upgrades service. To qualify as an upgrade of service, one of the following must apply:

- Customer must add a new port of PVC to existing network.
- Customer must upgrade the port speed of an existing network.
- Customer must increase the CIR on an existing port or PVC.

In addition to meeting one of the conditions above, Customer must also renew their existing contract for a term equal to or greater than the original contract (i.e., if a Customer is in year two of a three year contract, Customer must sign another contract equal to three years or greater). If Customer does not qualify for an upgrade of service, when Customer's term commitment expires on an original contract, Customer may select a new payment period option at current Tariff rates.

2.5.46 Frame Relay III Service (T)

A. General (N)

Frame Relay III Service is a high-performance, cost effective data offering for connectivity of multiple Local Area Networks (LANs) or Systems Network Architecture (SNA) locations. Frame Relay III Service uses shared facilities and statistical multiplexing to transport data communications. Frame Relay III Service delivers bandwidth-on-demand internetworking connections, providing up to T1 speeds. It is ideal for intensive, bursty data transmission applications.

Dedicated access facilities provide access to the frame relay network through ports. Connectivity to the frame relay network is provided through Permanent Virtual Circuits (PVCs) which provide logical software connections for communications between ports on the network. Multiple PVCs can be defined on any given port providing a single access line the capability to transmit data to multiple destinations.

Rates are found in Section 1.44.

B. Rate Elements

There are four primary components to Frame Relay Service:

- Local Access Facility (dedicated)
- Frame Relay Port
- Permanent Virtual Circuit (PVC)
- Virtual NNI Port

1. Local Access Facility - Customers may access the frame relay network through 56 Kbps (DS0) or 1.544 Mbps (DS1) digital facilities. (N)

B. Rate Elements (Continued) (N)

2. Frame Relay Port - The frame relay port provides the physical connection between the local access facility and the frame relay network. The port also provides the logical termination of the PVCs assigned to the port. The port speed provides the maximum (burst) speed for which Customer is capable of sending or receiving information through an individual port. Customers select a speed for each frame relay port, ranging from 56 Kbps to 1.544 Mbps. The sum of the individual PVCs speed can not exceed the port speed. The port speed must be large enough to accommodate the cumulative egress of all PVCs connected to the port.

3. Frame Relay (PVC) and Committed Information Rate (CIR) - The PVC provides the logical dedicated communications path (circuit) between two ports. PVCs use packet switching technology to automatically route around network related failures. PVCs are predefined for each pair of end point devices so a virtual network path (circuit) is always available without call set-up delay. This results in faster access to the network, better response time for end user applications, and a high degree of network security.

A CIR is assigned to each PVC. The CIR defines the average minimum data transmission rate the network will allocate to the PVC under normal operating conditions. The data transmission rate for a PVC can exceed the CIR when excess capacity is available on the port and on the network. When excess capacity exists, an average data rate above the CIR may be achieved up to the port capacity. Data sent across a virtual connection in excess of the connection's CIR will be marked by the network as being discard eligible in event of network congestion, and will be delivered only if the instantaneous demand for the output on the transmission channel is equal to or less than the capacity of the queue for that channel. In addition to regular Frame Relay Service rates, Nonrecurring Charges (NRCs) and Monthly Recurring Charges (MRCs) for a NNI PVC and for the NNI ports will apply. The NNI PVC is available at a designated CIR. The virtual NNI port must be large enough to accommodate the cumulative egress of all PVCs connected to the NNI. It will be at least as large as the sum of the CIRs for all PVCs connected to it and at least as large as the largest User to Network Interface (UNI) port connected to it.

C. Features

1. Service Standards

Customer will receive a credit for downtime greater than 30 minutes for Frame Relay III Service. Network availability is calculated by taking network downtime in minutes and subtracting it from Customer's total monthly minutes. The result is divided by the total monthly minutes for all PVCs. The monthly minutes are determined by multiplying the number of days and quantity of PVCs in a month by 1,440. The resulting percentage provides Customer's calculated network availability. Carrier defines network downtime as the number of minutes from Customer reported outage at a PVC level until Customer accepted cleared outage report.

Carrier is committed to maintain a service delivery data rate of 98%, for Customer's frame relay virtual network. This data rate is measured monthly based on statistics included in Carrier's monthly frame relay performance report. Carrier will refund one MRC for the frame relay port and the PVC for failing to meet the service delivery commitment. There will be no credit given for any access facility that does not maintain the service delivery data rate. Service remains subject to all Regulations in Section 2. (N)

2.5.46 Frame Relay III Service (Continued) (N)

C. Features (Continued)

1. Service Standards (Continued)

(a) Service delivery data rate is calculated as follows:

Rate = TEK/(TIK-SDBBEK), where:

TIK is the Total Ingress Kiloframes. The total number of kiloframes offered to the frame relay network, by all PVCs across all access facilities.

TEK is the Total Egress Kiloframes. The total number of kiloframes delivered by the frame relay network, by all PVCs across all access facilities.

SDBBEK is the Subtotal Discarded BC + BE Exceeded Kiloframes. The number of total discarded kiloframes induced by Customer access facilities with mismatched speeds. BC represents the data rate allowed under normal conditions across a PVC. BE represents the maximum burst allowed across a PVC; Carrier uses a BE PVC setting to restrict Customer with two different access facility speeds from offering the network more data than the remote location could physically receive (e.g., one access facility has an access speed of 1.544 Mbps and a remote access facility of 56 Kbps; it would be impossible for the remote location to receive continuous burst of 1.544 Mbps speeds). If Customer burst is above BE, the data will be discarded at the entry level port. (N)

2.5.46 Frame Relay III Service (Continued) (N)

C. Features (Continued)

1. Service Standards (Continued)

(b) Components excluded from the calculation of service delivery data rate (and any associated refunds) are:

- Customers with network configuration of less than four PVCs and less than 5,000 kiloframes;
- any act or omission on the part of any third party including, but not limited to, any local access provider;
- data loss during the scheduled maintenance windows;
- data lost resulting from Customer configurations where the egress port is not engineered with enough capacity to handle traffic loads from the remote sites;
- a month in which Customer fails to transmit in aggregate at least 5,000 kiloframes of data;
- back-up PVCs;
- any month in which Customer undergoes network configuration changes, such as upgrades to, or additions of PVCs or access ports;
- discarded frames due to excess BC + BE data (subtracted as part of the service delivery data rate); and
- no credit for the first month of service.

(c) Service Delivery

In the event that actual service delivery data rate falls below committed data rate and Carrier is unable to remedy such failure within 60 days, Carrier will migrate these PVCs that have not met the standard within that 60 day period to a 19.2 Kbps minimum data rate. There is no additional charge for this migration or use of the 19.2 Kbps minimum data rate. After the service is able to meet the minimum, Carrier may migrate the 19.2 Kbps PVCs back to regular Frame Relay III Service. (N)

2.5.46 Frame Relay III Service (Continued) (N)

C. Features (Continued)

2. Disaster Recovery

This feature provides connection arrangements for Customer's remote back-up host or hosts. In the event of a primary failure, Customer's local workstation can establish another connection (back-up PVC) to the remote back-up host via the frame relay network and continue with normal operations. Back-up PVCs are incremental PVCs that can be added into the circuit configuration to provide an alternate data delivery path. Disaster recovery is only available at zero CIR.

3. Local Access Diversity

Local access diversity provides a diverse physical link through a secondary or alternate route from Customer premise to the access Point-of-Presence (POP). This provides a back-up circuit in the event of a primary circuit failure. Any special construction or non-standard charges incurred by Customer will be the responsibility of Customer. (N)

2.5.46 Frame Relay III Service (Continued) (N)

D. Additional Terms and Conditions of Service

Frame Relay III Service is provided where facilities and operating conditions permit and where technically feasible.

Minimum service period for Frame Relay III Service is one year.

Customer must give Carrier 30-days prior written notice to terminate Frame Relay III Service.

Existing Customers will continue to pay the rates that were in effect at the time Customer signed the original contract. These rates will remain in effect until the contract expires, unless Customer upgrades service. To qualify as an upgrade of service, one of the following must apply:

- Customer must add a new port or PVC to existing network.
- Customer must upgrade the port speed of an existing network.
- Customer must increase the CIR on an existing port or PVC.

In addition to meeting one of the conditions above, Customer must also renew their existing contract at current tariff rates and current contract terms for a term equal to or greater than the remaining months on their original contract, (i.e., if Customer has 13 months remaining on their original contract, Customer must sign another contract equal to two years or greater). Rule 20 Credit Allowances for Interruptions

20.1 Application - General

A credit allowance is applicable to that portion of a call which is interrupted due to poor transmission (e.g., noisy circuit condition), one-way transmission (one party is unable to hear the other), or involuntary disconnection (cut-off) of the call caused by components of LDMTS. Customer may also be granted credit for reaching a wrong number.

To receive the proper credit, Customer must notify Carrier within 30 days and furnish the called number, the trouble experienced (e.g., cut-off, noisy circuit, reached wrong number, etc.), the class of call, and the approximate time the call was placed. Customer will receive credit equivalent to one minute. LDMTS charges will apply to the re-established call.

Credit allowances for an LDMTS call do not apply for interruptions that are due to the failure of power, equipment or systems not provided by Carrier.

20.2 Private Line Service

Carrier guarantees network availability of 99.95% each month for Private Line services. If Carrier fails to meet this commitment, Customer will receive a credit for one month's monthly recurring charge for the service involved. Network downtime is calculated in minutes, and subtracted from total monthly minutes. Monthly minutes are determined by multiplying the number of days in a month by 1,440. Network downtime is defined as the number of minutes from a Customer-reported outage, not determined to be the fault of Customer, until Customer-accepted cleared outage report. The percentage figure obtained by dividing the number of minutes of total network availability by the total monthly minutes is used to determine monthly network availability.

20.3 Frame Relay Service (N)

Customer will receive a credit for downtime greater than 30 minutes for Private Line Service or Frame Relay Service. Credit allowances for an LDMTS call do not apply for interruptions that are due to the failure of power, equipment or systems not provided by Carrier.

20.2 Private Line Service

Carrier guarantees network availability of 99.95% each month for private line services. If Carrier fails to meet this commitment, Customer will receive a credit for one month's monthly recurring charge for the service involved. Network downtime is calculated in minutes, and subtracted from total monthly minutes. Monthly minutes are determined by multiplying the number of days in a month by 1,440. Network downtime is defined as the number of minutes from a Customer reported outage, not determined to be the fault of the Customer, until Customer accepted cleared outage report. The percentage figure obtained by dividing the number of minutes of total network availability by the total monthly minutes is used to determine monthly network availability.

Rule 21 Changed or Cancelled Orders

21.1 Carrier will charge for cancellation and change orders prior to the establishment of service. The amount of the charge will vary according to the status of the service order and the stage when cancellation occurred. In addition to any cancellation charge imposed by the Carrier, Customer will also be responsible for any charges incurred by Carrier which are imposed by a local access service provider for cancellation of an access service order.

21.2 Customer may change an application for service upon written notice to Carrier, subject of acceptance and confirmation by Carrier. A charge shall apply to any change when the request is received by Carrier after notification by Carrier of the acceptance and confirmation. The charge will include the sum of the charges and costs incurred by Carrier for the service involved, including direct and indirect costs.

REGULATIONS (Continued)

24.2 The airline mileage between Carrier network terminal offices is calculated as follows.

A. Obtain the V and H coordinates for each POP.

B. Obtain the difference between the V coordinates and between the H coordinates for each POP.

C. Square each difference from B, above.

D. Add the square of the V difference to the square of the H difference from C, above.

E. Divide the sum of the squared numbers by 10. Round to the next higher whole number.

F. Obtain the square root of the number obtained in E, above. Round to the next higher whole number. This is the airline mileage figure.

G. Example:

	V	H
Abbeville, AL	7752	1993
Abernathy, TX	8546	4978

The difference between the V coordinates is 794.
The difference between the H coordinates is 2985.

Squaring each difference yields:
794 X 794 = 630,436
2985 X 2985 = 8,910,225

Adding the results equals 9,540,661.

Dividing by 10 equals 954,066.

The square root of 954,066 is 977, which is the mileage figure.
