DESCRIPTION OF SERVICES

Conference Connection. Conference Connection Service is a telecommunications interconnection of three or more parties. All parties to a conference may be interconnected so that each one can communicate with all the others or so that one party is the transmitting party while the others are receiving parties.

Monitoring. A moderator will monitor a conference call and will provide conference support as requested. All monitoring will be in compliance with General Order 107-B.

Notification. Prior to a conference call, a moderator will provide conference details (such as, date, time, and access number) to participants.

Polling. A moderator will tabulate responses from participants to questions asked. Each participant uses, as directed, a touch tone key pad to vote.

Question and Answer. At the time a reservation is made, a customer may request a question-and-answer period. The customer must tell the moderator when to activate the Question and Answer Service. Participants who have questions will place themselves in queue or remove themselves from queue by pressing designated touch-tone keys. All participants will hear all of the questions asked and the answers given. The customer may request the moderator to assign priorities to specified participants.

1-800 Teleconferencing Service. An 800 telephone number available for conference calls. It eliminates the need for conferencing participants to incur toll charges associated with conference calls. All conference charges are billed to the party setting up the call.

For Unassisted and Operator Assisted conferences, conference calls having 20 or less reserved ports will be allowed as many as 5 unused ports without penalty, i.e., charges only apply to the ports used. If more than 5 reserved ports are unused, those reserved ports over the 5 reserved port limit will be charged by multiplying the number of unused ports times the Bridge Port Usage rate for the Initial 15 Minute Period, per port. At the Utility's option, after the initial 15 minute period, chargeable unused ports may be released for use on other conference calls.

Conference calls having more than 20 reserved ports will be allowed as many as 10 unused ports without penalty, i.e., charges only apply to the ports used. If more than 10 reserved ports are unused, those reserved ports over the 10 reserved port limit will be charged by multiplying the number of unused ports times the Bridge Port Usage rate for the Initial 15 Minute Period, per port. At the Utility's option, after the initial 15 minute period, chargeable unused ports may be released for use on other conference calls.

The Utility may release unused ports after the first fifteen minutes of a conference.

Chargeable time for attended conferences begins when the customer agrees all parties are connected and ends when all parties disconnect.

Chargeable time for unattended conferences begins when a participant is connected. Chargeable time for each bridge port ends when the party using that port disconnects.

All charges for Conference Connection Services will be billed to the customer who originates the conference. The customer originating a conference call must provide billing and credit information at the time a conference reservation is made.

Broadcast Conference rates are the same for all hours and all days of the week. Ports used will be billed for actual time used. Unused reserved ports will be billed from the time the first participant connects to the time the last participant disconnects.
