A. GENERAL

A Time and Charge Special Access Line is a special access line to a customer's premises for the purpose of completing Local, Metro Call Band, Toll or International calls originated from the customer's location.

B. DESCRIPTION

Three types of Time and Charge Special Access Lines are provided:

1. Type 1 is a Special Access Line which provides for the routing and handling of all calls by the Telephone Company Operator. It may be equipped, at the customer's request, for Selective Class of Call Screening Service which enables a customer, by means of Telephone Company Operator intervention, to restrict outgoing calls to only those calls which are charged to the called number, a third number[1] or a Telephone Company calling card.

2. Type 2 is a Special Access Line which provides selective routing of calls. The Telephone Company Operator will intervene on all operator-assisted calls. Direct dialed message toll calls and calls made to Metro Call Bands 2 through 6 will be routed to the direct dialed network without the intervention of the Telephone Company Operator.

3. Type 3 is a Special Access Line which provides selective routing of calls. The Telephone Company Operator will intervene on all operator-assisted calls. Direct dialed message toll calls, International calls and calls made to Metro Call Bands 2 through 6 will be routed to the direct dialed network without the intervention of the Telephone Company Operator.
