APPLICATION OF PRODUCT GUIDE

1.1 HOW TO USE THIS MATERIAL

1.1.1 APPLICATION

As used herein, the term “services” includes any product or service offered by Verizon New Jersey Inc. (“Verizon,” “Company,” “we,” “us” or “our”) to residential and business customers (“customer,” “you” or “your”) in the state of New Jersey that are included in this Product Guide, as well as the facilities and equipment required to use it.

This Product Guide applies to the intrastate intraLATA services furnished by Verizon or made available jointly by it and other communications providers with which suitable arrangements have been made, as well as service between (1) points in New Jersey and points in another state which are within the same local service area, and (2) points in different LATAs in New Jersey which are within the same local service area, and as additionally provided in this Product Guide in connection with specific services.

1.1.2 PRODUCT GUIDE FORMAT

The Product Guide Parts listed in 1.1.2 preceding are divided into subsections (e.g., 1.1 and 1.1.1) which are intended to logically subordinate the subject matter contained therein. Additional levels of subordination are used as necessary to further outline each subsection.

1.1.3 LOCATION OF MATERIAL

A. PRODUCT GUIDE STRUCTURE

There are Four Parts to the Product Guide; namely, Part 0, Part A, Part B and Part C.

Part 0 covers Table of Contents, Application of Product Guide, Terms of Service, and Definitions.
Part A covers Exchange and Network Services.
Part B covers Access Service.
Part C covers Channel Service.

References in this Product Guide to Interstate Access Services refer to the following respectively:

Tariff FCC No. 1 - Interstate Access Service
Product Guide, Part B, Access Services.

B. TABLE OF CONTENTS

Table of Contents for this Product Guide is located in Section 0 preceding.

APPLICATION OF PRODUCT GUIDE

1.1 HOW TO USE THIS MATERIAL (Cont'd)

1.1.4 SPECIAL CHARACTERS AND CHANGE SYMBOLS

A. SPECIAL CHARACTERS

Positive entries are made in each column of a rate table. When the applicable rate or charge is "none" or when the service is "not offered", the letters NO are shown in the appropriate column. (Where the usage of NO is unclear, a note has been added for clarification.) When the rate or charge for an item is shown elsewhere in the Product Guide or cannot be shown in a single entry, the letters RR (Referenced Rate) are shown in the appropriate column and a footnote is used to (1) refer to the location of the applicable rate or charge, or (2) specify the applicable rate or charge. When a Universal Service Order Code (USOC) is not applicable for a particular rate element, the letters NA are shown in the USOC column.

B. CHANGE SYMBOLS

The symbols described following are located along the right hand margin of a Product Guide page to indicate changes on a per line basis.

(C) - represents changed terms or revised text without rate increase
(I) - represents increase in rate
(G) - represents Grandfathered product or service
(M - represents move of material to a different page or location on a page
(N) – represents new rate or provision
(S) - represents reissued material (N)