D. CONFERENCING SERVICE

1. General

Message conference service is that of furnishing connections between three or more main stations, Centrex stations or private branch exchanges or combinations thereof on one connection at the same time.

2. Conditions Under Which Service is Furnished

a. Service is furnished where and to the extent that facilities permit.

b. All main stations, Centrex stations or private branch exchanges on a conference connection may be so interconnected that each may communicate with all the others, or arrangements may be made whereby one station will be the transmitting station and all others receiving stations.

c. One class of service only is offered whether the call is to specified persons or specified telephones.

d. The Company, upon request, will attempt to arrange for the establishment of a conference connection at a specified time.

3. Timing of Messages

a. Chargeable time begins when the connection is established between all the persons on the conference and ends when the connection is terminated at any point.

b. A customer's request that a station or stations be added to or disconnected from a conference call on which conversation is in progress is considered as terminating the call and initiating a new call to the revised group of stations.

c. Chargeable time does not include time lost because of faults or defects in the service.

4. Initial and Overtime Periods

Message conference rates are quoted in terms of initial and overtime periods.

a. The initial period is the interval of time allowed at the rate quoted for a conference connection between given points. The initial period is five minutes.

b. The overtime period is the unit of time used for measuring the chargeable time in excess of the initial period. The overtime period is one minute or any fraction thereof that the telephone connection continues beyond the initial period.

D. CONFERENCING SERVICE (Cont'd)

5. Rates and Charges

a. The rates of the Company apply as hereinafter set forth to conference connections.

b. When more than ten main or Centrex stations (or private branch exchange trunks) are interconnected on one conference connection at any one time, the minimum charge applicable is that for a conference connection of ten minutes' duration.

c. The total charge for the conference connection is the sum of the initial period charge and the overtime charge, if any.

Initial and overtime rates are determined as follows:

(1) For each main or Centrex station (or private branch exchange trunk) in excess of the originating station, the initial period charge is the non-coin day message rate charge plus the person-to-person surcharge.

(2) The overtime charge is double the day message rate overtime charge.

d. Application of Special Charges

When more than six main stations, Centrex stations or private branch exchange trunks or combinations thereof are interconnected on one conference connection at any one time, or when suitable facilities are not available for conference service involving fewer points, a special charge may be applied based on the cost of any special equipment used. Such special charges are separate from and in addition to the initial period and overtime rates computed as outlined in this Tariff.
