

SERIES 1000 CHANNELS¹

A. GENERAL

Series 1000 Channels are unconditioned subvoice channels capable of transmitting signals at rates up to 75 bauds. Channels are furnished for half-duplex or duplex operation on a two-point or multi-point basis.

B. TERMS AND CONDITIONS

1. Channel Types

a. Type 1001

A two-wire interface for half-duplex service or a four-wire interface for duplex service engineered for binary signals up to 30 bauds for remote metering, supervisory control and miscellaneous signaling purposes.

b. Type 1150

A four-wire interface engineered for binary signals at rates up to 75 bauds, 20 or 62.5 milliamperes d.c. neutral signals* for data, teletypewriter, remote metering, supervisory control and miscellaneous signaling purposes. The customer terminal equipment shall have a transmitted output of no more than 8% telegraph distortion and shall be capable of processing received data signals with up to 35% telegraph distortion.

The specifications of channel signals and for channel distortion in a. and b. preceding refers to the requirement of the total channel service.

2. Series 1000 Channels are not suitable for the transmission of alternating current tones.

C. RATES

1. Intraexchange Channels

a. Local Channels

Each Channel, between the station location and the serving wire center*	Per Month		USOC
	Half-Duplex	Duplex
Type 1001	$109.60	$219.32
Type 1150	264.26	264.24

* The Company has the option of providing 20 or 62.5 milliamperes and will notify the customer of the current level to be supplied. The Company will supply the line voltage and provide for the current adjustment. The maximum open circuit voltage across the send data leads at the interface will not exceed 270 volts.

Line Connection Charges for these Channels are provided in the Company's General Services Tariff, P.S.C. Md.- No.- 203, Section 3 and the Company's Product Guide, Part C, Section 3.

¹ Effective February 13, 2026, moves, changes, or modifications to this service will no longer be supported. Service modifications for customers with existing contracts are subject to the terms of their contracts. Effective October 31, 2014, Series 1000 Channels are grandfathered and no longer available to new customers. Term commitment plans will not be renewed. Moves, adds or changes to subscribers' existing service are permitted. (C) | (C)
