

JOINT USE OF SERVICE

Applications for this service will not be accepted after January 6, 1969.

Subject to the following conditions, the joint use of a business customer's flat rate individual line service is available to an individual, firm or corporation whose relation with the customer does not permit the furnishing of an additional directory listing under regulations governing directory listings as contained in Section 5 of this Tariff:

1. The individual, firm or corporation sharing a customer's service is known as a "joint user".
2. The joint user must be located in the building where the telephone to be used is located and the telephone must be readily accessible to him.
3. The application for joint use privileges must be signed by the customer who is held responsible for all charges in connection with the joint use privilege.
4. The charge for joint use privilege including one directory listing is one-half the established rate for business flat rate individual or trunk line service and is applicable from the date of establishment of service.
5. The number of joint users who may share service furnished under one contract is limited to twice the numbers of individual lines jointly used.
6. Joint use service may be terminated subject to the provisions and charges covered in Section 2 of this Tariff.
